Australia's largest and most prestigious Half Marathon attracts over 10,000 registered participants and is held on the third Sunday in May. Established in 1991, the picturesque 21.1 km course weaves its way around major Sydney landmarks with a spectacular finish in Hyde Park at the Archibald fountain. Attracting a quality field of runners, the women's trophy is dedicated to the late champion Kerry McCann, with funds raised for the Breast Cancer Network Australia.
